Plan Big Canyon Day at Tri-State Fair

College Fall Term to Open Wednesday

Faculty Members Returning Daily From Summer Vacations

Next Wednesday, September 21, freshmen students from many towns will arrive in Canyon to enroll in the twenty-second session of the West Texas State Teachers College. Sophomores and upper classmen will enroll on Thursday and classes will meet on Friday and Saturday.

Students who are taking entrance examinations will be busy with them on Friday, September 23rd.

Everything is in readiness for the opening of the fall session. President Hill will meet his entire faculty on Tuesday afternoon at which time special plans and policies for the year will be announced and pressing problems considered.

Faculty Return

Miss Hattie M. Anderson, who has been on leave for more than a year will return from Missouri University where she has been studying for her doctor's degree, and Miss Angie Debo will be back from Oklahoma, where she has been spending the summer writing her doctor's dissertation under the directon of the University of Oklahoma. Both will again be associated with Professor L. F. Sheffy in the history department.

Miss Marion Normington, head of the home economics department, has spent the summer doing advanced work at the University of Chicago. Professor John A. Gillis of the Manual Training department has been on leave during the summer studying at the Colorado State Teachers College at Greeley.

Dr. B. F. Fronabarger succeeds Dr. P. M. Darnall as head of the English department and Professor C. H. Thurman becomes a member of the English staff in place of Miss Margaret Wiley who is working at the University of Virginia, she having received a fellowship there for the coming session.

Miss Isabel Robinson, head of the Art Department will return from the Lake Region of Minnesota where she has spent the summer painting and in study

There have been fewer faculty changes this year than usual and it is expected that the year's work will begin with a minimum of adjustments to be made.

Campus Changes

The greatest change on the campus, to the students and faculty who are returning to Canyon will be the construction of the Museum building which is under way on the southwest corner of the campus.

Many other small changes and improvements have taken place during the brief vacation period. In the men's gymnasium showers and dressing rooms are being installed beneath the seats on the east side, greatly increasing the convenience of the gym for men's physical education classes.

A road is being made, leading north on the east of Cousins Hall to the north line of the campus.

The fences which have been black have been painted with aluminum paint, greatly improving their appearance. The old pump house has been converted into two rooms which will be used for a variety of purposes.

Many shelves have been added to the main library, and small improvements have been made in several offices. Cousins and Randall Halls have been given a number of small repairs.

Altogether, according to the College authorities, the faculty and plant of the college is in excellent condition for the opening of a successful year's work. Several schools which have already opened have reported an increase in their enrollment, and it will not be a surprise if such a thing occurs in Canyon next week.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Hinkle will leave tomorrow to spend the week end visiting Mr. and Mrs. Olin Hinkle at Pampa.

Miss Darthula Walker returned Tuesday morning from a vacation trip to Tennessee.

Everybody Asked To Wear Badges On Fair Day

Everyone attending the Tri-State Fair on Canyon-Randall County Day, is requested to wear a badge. Those living in Canyon are to wear "Canyon," badges and those living outside the city "Randall County" badges. The chamber of commerce officials urge that those who are going to the fair to please obtain their badges as early Tuesday as is possible.

Badges may be obtained at the chamber of commerce office Monday, or at the band stand on the east side of the courthouse from 7:30 until 10:00 o'clock Tuesday morning. After that time badges will be distributed at the Randall County booth in the agricultural building at the fair ground.

Dr. Fronabarger Speaks To Rotarians Tuesday

Dr. B. F. Fronabarger, Jr., new head of the English Department at the college was the speaker on the Canyon Rotary Club program Tuesday noon.

The program Tuesday was in charge of the Public Information Committee, Fred E. Wortham, chairman. Visitors present included: Carl Hair, Art Hunsley, Arthur Osgood, Roy White, Grady Person, Jack Allen, and W. L. Smith, all of Amarillo; L. F. Barksdale, and Dr. B. F. Fronabarger, Jr.

Dr. Fronabarger used as the topic for his discussion, "The Value of the Love for the Beautiful." Pointing to the conditions of 1915 he compared the city of Canyon then and now, showing that the spirit for the beautiful things had been at work. Improvements and the beautifying of the city and the homes in the city have been indeed marvelous.

He declared that when a man loses his love for things beautiful he falls into a routine of gossiping. If we could pick out the good and the beauty it would be much better than following after the bad. If one likes the good things the bad ones will take care of themselves and get better.

J. M. Simmons left Saturday morning for a brief visit with his sister at Matador.

Floyd Studer of Amarillo spent Tuesday morning in Canyon.

Randall County Competes In Dairy Contest

Randall County's entries in the Master Dairy Farmers' Contest were judged Tuesday morning of this week. The dairy herds of H. R. Fulton, and C. C. Stewart were the entries from this county which completed the year of the contest, sponsored by the Amarillo News-Globe.

Judges for this year were Sheppardson, A. & M. College; Simons, Texas Secretary American Jersey Cattle Club; and Thomas, A. & M. College. P. C. Bennett, Potter County agent, was accompanying the judges on the tour over the Panhandle counties and was serving as clerk for them.

A banquet will be held Wednesday noon, in Amarillo, at which time the winners of this year's contest will be announced.

Since the contest was inaugurated four years ago, Randall county has furnished one or more winners each year.

Old Settlers Of Panhandle To Meet Sept. 21

One of the most interesting features of the Tri-State Fair will be the Panhandle Old Settlers Association Reunion which will be held Sept. 21 at the fair grounds. A large number of pioneers of this section are expected to be present to start event at 10:30. All that is required of the old timers is a registration fee of $1.00 which will give them a badge indicating 25 years residence in the Panhandle.

President W. H. Patrick of Clarendon and Secretary Floyd V. Studer of Amarillo have spent considerable time in working out an interesting program for the day. "This year," said Mr. Studer, "we intend to have many individuals appearing on the program, giving us some high spots in their long career in the Panhandle. There will be several musical numbers, moving pictures will be taken again this year, and will be placed in our repository at the Panhandle Plains Historical Society in Canyon."

E. D. HARRELL, PIONEER, DIES AT HOME HERE

Funeral Services To Be This Afternoon At 3 O'clock

MOVED HERE IN 1890

Was Intensely Interested In All Pioneer and Civic Affairs Of the Panhandle.

Death, following a very brief illness, ended the career of E. D. Harrell, 64, pioneer stockman-rancher late yesterday. He died at the family home, 1000 Fourth Avenue, at 6:40 p. m.

Funeral services will be conducted this afternoon at 3 o'clock at the First Presbyterian Church with Rev. F. T. Charlton in charge.

Active in the development of this county and this section of the Panhandle, Mr. Harrell had been a resident of Randall county for over 42 years, moving here July 5, 1890.

A native of Georgia, Edward Dow Harrell was born in Forsythe county, February 16, 1868. With a brother, he moved to Texas from Georgia, first settling in Floyd county; remaining there only a few months. They then settled in the south part of Randall county about 2 miles from the present town of Happy, where they were engaged in the horse raising business for about six years.

Operated Ranch

Moving to a large ranch on the Palo Duro Creek about 7 miles west of Canyon in 1896, Mr. Harrell operated a cattle ranch at this place until 1918, when he acquired a large acreage of the original J-A ranch in the Palo Duro Canyon and situated in Armstrong county. Since then his ranching business has been conducted there.

On December 22, 1898 he was married to Miss Samuel Barks. He was very active in the pioneer development of this county and surrounding territory, and held a deep interest in all civic affairs. He took an active interest in the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society shortly after it was organized and was much interested in the raising of funds for the new museum building. He was also a member of the Old Cowboys Association, attending the annual reunions on

Burglars Enter Local Lumber Co. Office Tuesday

Burglars entered the local offices of the Foxworth Galbraith lumber company Tuesday night and made away with $29.00 in cash and a radio, according to reports received by the News Wednesday.

Entrance was effected through prizing the lock from a rear screen door and forcing a window in a back office. The lock on the safe had not been forced and apparently had been opened by working the combination. Nothing else of value was reported missing.

Mrs. Sue Donald and daughter, Betty Ross, have returned from Denton, Dallas and other Texas points where they spent a brief vacation.

Buffaloes Are Getting Ready To Meet Cowboys

The 1932 version of the West Texas State Teachers College football team will go into serious action Friday night, September 23, when they meet the Simmons University Cowboys in the first tilt of the grid season. The game will be played at Buffalo Park.

Twenty-eight men, including nine lettermen, have been reporting for two workouts daily and the team is showing prospects of developing into a strong machine, states Coach S. D. Burton. The workouts are comparatively light yet but will grow stiffer as the playing season nears.

"The material looks good," said Coach Burton this week, "and the outlook for a winning season are excellent. The game on the 23rd is going to be interesting and is going to show up just what our material can do."

Admission to the Buffalo-Simmons game will be 75 cents.

Museum Delayed By Difference In Sub-Soils

Work is being resumed today on the erection of the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society museum building, after a delay caused when foundation difficulties were encountered.

It was found that one end of the basement excavation penetrated blow sand, while the east end penetrated what was once a lake, and therefore equivalent to surface soil. After pressure tests were made on both materials, it was found that it would be necessary to extend the footings of the buildings deeper so that they could rest on a base of blue clay.

No further difficulties are expected in the erection of the $50,000 building.

Henry Wiggins Is Captain Of S.S.T.C. Squad

Word has been received here of the election of Henry Wiggins, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Wiggins of this city, as captain of the football squad of Southwestern State Teachers College, Weatherford, Oklahoma.

Wiggins is the second Canyon man to hold this position, the first being Bob Campbell, who was a student there twenty-five years ago and who now resides near Bushland.

Wiggins plays quarterback, although last year he played fullback and was given honorable mention as an All-State end. He is a graduate of the Canyon High School.

Superintendent B. C. Barron of Dimmitt spent Wednesday in Canyon in the interests of his school. Mr. Barron is working in Texas for the first time, coming to the Panhandle from Oklahoma. Miss Freda Oberst and Miss Mildred Wheat of Canyon will be members of his faculty.

C. E. Strain has been quite ill for several days.

Merchants and Schools to Co-operate In Boosting County

Extensive plans are being completed by the Chamber of Commerce for the Canyon-Randall county day at the Tri-State Fair in Amarillo, next Tuesday, September 20th. The date designated by the fair officials is the second day of the fair. One of the largest delegations ever to attend the fair from this county is expected for the Canyon-Randall County day.

Mayor C. R. Burrow has issued a proclamation calling for a half-holiday among the business firms of the city, while the high school officials have announced a full holiday for the school students. This it is said will mean almost a 100 per cent attendance from the city.

Special badges for Canyon people have been printed and will be distributed by the Chamber of Commerce. Every citizen who attends the fair next Tuesday is urged to wear a Canyon badge. Also special badges for Randall county citizens who do not live in Canyon have been printed. These will also be distributed by the Chamber of Commerce.

Badges may be had by calling at the Chamber of Commerce office any time Monday, or by driving by the band stand at the east side of the courthouse early Tuesday morning. It has been announced that someone will be at the band stand from about 7:30 until 10 o'clock Tuesday morning to distribute the badges to those who will drive by for them. Citizens who plan to attend the fair any time during the day Tuesday are urged to call by and get badges. Shortly after 10 o'clock, badges may be had at the fair grounds by calling at the Randall County booth. Those who fail to obtain badges before leaving Canyon, or those who live in the north part of Randall county may get a badge by calling at the Randall county exhibit booth in the Agricultural building on the Fair grounds.

The proclamation in full as issued by Mayor Burrow:

"Whereas, Tuesday, September 20th, has been designated by certain officials as Canyon-Randall County Day at the Tri-State Fair in Amarillo, and,

"Whereas, this exposition is a part of this section of our State, with its officials lending every effort toward the upbuilding of our country, and

"Whereas, Randall county and Canyon has in past years been exceedingly successful in competition with other sections of the Panhandle, New Mexico, and Oklahoma, and,

"Whereas, it behooves the citizens of our city to at least visit the exposition for a day of a part of a day of its duration,

"Therefore, by the authority vested in me as Mayor of the City of Canyon, I do hereby proclaim, Tuesday afternoon, September 20th, as a holiday, and urge that all business firms which can do so without violating their duty to public and community service, cease business activities in order that all clerks and employees of said businesses may have an opportunity to join many others in visiting the Tri-State Fair. Done this the 14th day of September, A. D. 1932.

C. R. BURROW, Mayor,
City of Canyon, Texas.

There will be no band to head the Canyon delegation at the fair inasmuch as the college term will not begin until after the Canyon-Randall County Day and the new band will not be organized. Also, it will be impossible to have a small band of local people who are former members of the Buffalo band, because Professor C. E. Strain has been ill for several days and could not organize even a small

Pioneer Tells Of City's First School

Miss Emma Turner Was First Teacher In 1890

CANYON'S FIRST SCHOOL.

By Mrs. J. W. Beall

In the early part of the year 1890, was laid the foundation of Canyon's great system of public schools.

This school, which the writer attended was a small school and it consisted of one teacher and eleven pupils. It was taught in a small one-room, un-painted building, facing the east.

It was a six months' term and the teacher received a salary of forty dollars per month.

This school began soon after Christmas, a short time after Randall County was organized.

Mr. M. M. McGee was school superintendent, Mr. Will Baird, and Mr. A. Hammond were the trustees. Miss Emma Turner, a young lady about twenty-two years of age, was the teacher. She came from Kansas to teach our school. She was a young lady of very charming manners and lovable disposition and endeared herself to all who knew her. She boarded with Mr. and Mrs. Roberts. Mr. Roberts owned the only grocery store in Canyon at that time.

The following are the ones who attended this school: Douglas Hammond, fifteen years of age; Flake Hammond, nine; Myrtle Hammond, seven; Abbie Thompson, fourteen; Dollie Thompson, ten; Chrisa Thompson, six; Johnnie Neville, eight; Charlie Neville, six; Edna McGee, eight; Celta McGee, six; and Bernice McGee four.

Charlie Neville, Myrtle Hammond, Chrisa Thompson, Celta McGee and Bernice McGee were all in the primary class. Flake Hammond, Johnnie Neville and Edna McGee were in the first grade. Dollie Thompson was in the third

The winners will compete in the State audition at Dallas over station WFAA next month at which time the Texas entries in the national contest will be determined.

Seven contestants were entered in each division. Miss Imogene Porterfield of Amarillo won second among the girls and Charles C. Ferguson, Jr. of Hereford won second among the boys. Canyon had another winner in Mrs. Ed Phillips, who placed third in the women's contest.

Mr. Jameson was accompanied by Miss Frances Usery, who will also play for him at Dallas, and Mr. Ferguson was accompanied by Miss Thelma McMinn of Hereford. Both accompanists are students of the music department at the college.

Judges for the contest Sunday were Mrs. A. D. Steed, Miss Gertrude Elliker and H. Berkley Vaughn, all of Amarillo, who judged the voices at their home radio sets. Miss Mattie May Swisher, local chairman of the Canyon district, and Emil F. Myers, chairman of the Amarillo district, together with Mrs. Robert Wilson, Mrs. L. D. Smith, and Mrs. J. W. Sanders of Amarillo were in charge of the audition at the station.

THE NEW UNIVERSITY
By Clyde W. Warwick
Representative, 123rd District

Ex-students of the University of Texas who have not visited their alma mater in recent years will have a most agreeable surprise when they return to Austin during the coming year and see on the campus the new University which has arisen on the spot that the old shacks had occupied in the past and which have become an institution in the life of those who have attended the university in the past.

At the present time nine large beautiful buildings are in the course of construction and will be completed during the coming year. This will make it possible for every shack that has adorned the campus in years past to be removed and that students during the coming years will be adequately housed in some of the finest buildings to be found on any university campus in the U. S.

Driving to the campus the first sight to confront the visitors will be the wonderful Littlefield memorial. This is a magnificent ornament not yet completed but fitting to the memory of Major Littlefield who contributed so freely of his millions to the University of Texas. It is hard, at this time to comprehend the magnitude of this memorial in its unfinished condition.

To the north of the fountain will be a series of statues with terracing along the slope which leads up to the administration building. The old administration building, a land-mark in the history of the university, will be remodeled and made fire-proof. An adequate addition in the way of a beautiful library will be connected with this building.

Surruonding this building is the group of new buildings which have been erected during the past few years and are now under construction.

The readers may wonder as to the cost of this expansion during this period of depression and perhaps those not acquainted with university affairs will jump at conclusions and charge the Legislature with extravagance. This is far from the truth as is well known by many citizens of Texas that the Constitution of Texas prohibits the Legislature from making appropriations for buildings for the University, but in creating this institution, lands were set aside from the income of which the University did benefit in building construction in years to come. These lands are located in West Texas and in the early history of the University brought very small income to the institution, however, with the discovery of oil on these lands nearly twenty millions ($20,000,000.00) of dollars have poured into the building fund of the university, the interest on which is used for the construction of buildings. This interest has made it possible to construct a few buildings in the past. At the regular session of the 42nd Legislature provision was made that the university officials might borrow sufficiently from the fund for the immediate construction of these nine buildings. Also a provision was made to divide this fund between the University and A. & M. College, so that two million ($2,000,000.00) of dollars was available for the A. & M. College. This was a very wise movement owing to the fact that buildings may be constructed at a very greatly reduced cost under present conditions.

It will be worth the while of ex-students to return to the University during the coming year for the purpose of seeing the wonderful improvements which are being made at the A. & M. College at College Station which will be a surprise to the ex-students of that institution when they return.

The House has made real progress during the past week in passing the tax relief measures as submitted by Governor Sterling.

As a result of the bills passed, the tax-payers of the State will have a greatly reduced tax bill when they visit the Tax Collector in January.

As this is written the termination date of this session has not been fixed nor have plans been made regarding the State convention to be held at Lubbock. The reader will look to the daily newspapers for the latest news.

Be it said, however, for this "lame duck" session that it has gone contrary to most special sessions and has accomplished the purposes for which it has been called.

Cool Weather Suggests New Sport Frock

SWEATERS AND SKIRTS, IN PLAID AND OTHER DESIGNS, ARE CHARMING IN COTTON, ONE OF SMART FALL FABRICS

BY HARRIET

WHEN the air turns cooler you will want a new sports outfit to attend the football games. Or perhaps you are having a belated vacation and your summer frocks have lost the lilt of living, as they have a habit of doing around autumn. Maybe you are just staying at home and wishing you knew what sort of ensemble to purchase for the period before coats are necessary.

If so, decide on something along the sports line. There is an intangible feeling of youth in sweaters and skirts and two-piece frocks that look as though they are going some place where things are happening. They are carefree, ready for adventure. Concentrate on the scarfs that tie at the throat, the buttons that take several tricks, the weaves that attract attention and hold it.

COTTON is one of the smartest fall fabrics. It is cool, yet it has enough body to make it durable. One costume which is appropriate for daytime wear any place, is made of an interesting durene mixture in a broken diagonal plaid. It is modeled on the design of the "Scotch" plaid that is making the fashion news at present. Plaids, as it happens, are having their own criss-cross way with a large number of the autumn patterns. There are some velvets that are going in for the checkered idea, too.

This particular sports costume has a plaid skirt in three colors—gray, green and an audacious orange, which predominates. With it is worn a blouse that has a crisp tweedy look without being in the least like tweed. It, too, is fashioned from soft durene It picks up the gray and the green of the plaid but omits the orange. The scarf, which loops at the neck, is made from the skirt material.

A small brown felt hat, which tilts over one side of the head, exposing the other, as autumn hats will do, sets off the costume. Brown kid gloves and shoes which are a combination of ribbed fabric and kid are other smart touches.

A charming little durene cotton frock is shown at left. The skirt is an interesting mixture in a broken diagonal plaid, and the blouse, though it has a crisp tweedy look, is really an extremely soft durene knit. Felt hat, kid gloves and combination fabric and kid shoes complete the outfit. The short-sleeved durene mesh blouse at right, fastened with a zipper, is set off by a felt hat of shallow sailor style, and crocheted durene gloves, both of bright green.

There will be plenty of yachts slipping through the bright blue autumn water this fall. Golf courses aren't closing for a long time, and sports meets are just getting off to a good start. It is well to have something new to wear for such sports. A durene mesh blouse, whose neck fastens with a zipper, has an immutable smartness that lies in sheer fabric. Sleeves reach the elbow and the collar is extremely tailored. Crocheted gloves and a shallow sailor of bright green will increase the interest of the sports blouse. A dark chocolate brown, a vibrant red, or any other colors that you prefer are quite as willing to contribute to the effect you will make.

THE CAUSE OF EDUCATION.

Sufficient time has elapsed since the primaries to cause the friends of education in Texas to come out of their slumbers and wonder where they were while the cyclone raged, which swept from the legislature practically all of the friends of education in Texas. Of course there has been a sentiment in Texas that school teachers, and preachers, those who have made a study of government and should know the needs of the state and of the institutions, should be dumb as oysters during political campaigns, and should leave the talking to those who have made no study of governmental affairs, but have deep prejudices for or against those who offer for office, and do not consider the real merits of any candidate, their standing or their ability. Educational forces have been in the cellar, through fear of criticism, and will likely now stay in the cellar because the forces opposed to education are now in the saddle and will control the situation at least until the next election.

Practically every educational center in Texas will send to the Legislature in January men who have no interest in education. Those who elected them thought they were doing a great thing for the state. It is well known that a stubborn fight was made last session against the continuance of the summer schools in the educational institutions. The fight will be continued next January, with the chances well on the side of closing the summer terms. Business men in Canyon will appreciate what that will mean to this city, if at least $100,000 worth of business is removed from the town during the summer months. If the fight is successful to close the summer school next year, it is believed that it will take many years to again convince the legislature of a summer session. Multiply Canyon's situation by seventeen—including all of the towns where state educational institutions are located, and you have the picture of what has happened when the friends of education have slept while those who talk loud have swayed public opinion in the election.

There is no use crying about the situation. Those who should have been interested, were asleep at the post. The News advocated years ago a definite stand on the part of those interested in education, and a definite educational as well as political program. But nothing was done. Perhaps, with the enemies of education in the saddle, the friends of education may now throw off the mantle of self-righteousness and do something in the future.

The fight against education as a whole, from the common schools to the colleges and universities, is being waged over the state, under the guise of economy. There is no question about the need of economy on the part of every agency in the state, including every branch of the school system. But to wreck or materially damage the cause of education under the guise of economy would be the worst thing that could happen in Texas. The salaries of the teachers, and the expense of operating the schools are all of minor consequence, considering the everlasting damage that will be done if the children of Texas are deprived of the advantages of adequate educational facilities. The pioneers of Texas fought, bled and died for those of us who are now enjoying the results of their labors and their hardships. It would be poor sportsmanship on the part of those of us who carry the load to deprive the boys and girls of today of every advantage which would make them better men and better women. To definitely curtail the educational facilities of Texas to the point of crippling the institutions for service to the boys and the girls of the state would be the worst thing that could possibly happen at this time.

Those in charge of the educational system have an obligation to run as efficiently as possible the schools of the state. They owe that to the taxpayers. But the taxpayers themselves have an obligation to the children of the state which they cannot escape—to give them the advantages which are necessary to a well rounded development that will upbuild the state.

Interest Growing In Tri-State Fair Football Game

AMARILLO, Sept. 15.—Interest in the Tri-State Fair sponsored college football game to be played in Amarillo on Sept. 24, the last day of this year's exposition, is mounting daily and not without sufficient cause.

Both of the teams, the Aggies of College Station, and the Matadors of Texas Tech, promise to be among the Southwest's greatest this season.

The Matadors are pointing for this game. Pete Cawthon will fire his men up to the highest possible pitch, for a victory over the stalwart Aggies would brighten Tech's chance to some day become a member of the Southwest Conference.

Matty Bell and his team will put out their best because they will be playing before a strange audience and in a new part of the state for them. The stigma of defeat from the hands of the Matadors would cause nearly as much grief in Aggieland as to lose to Texas, for the bullfighters are an "outside" outfit, and the Farmers do not intend to do anything to lower the prestige now enjoyed by the Southwest conference.

Hundreds of ex-aggies are planning to attend the game, and watch their favorites in action. Likewise, several hundred exes and present students of Texas Tech will be on hand to cheer for the West Texans.

Avery Rush, secretary and Bill Lampe, President, of the Tri-State Fair Association have left nothing undone to make this game the feature sports event of the year. Prices are $1.10, $1.65, and $2.20 for boxes. The game will be played at Butler field.

Out-of-town orders for reservations should be sent to Lyman E. Robbins, Globe-News, Amarillo. Mr. Robbins wishes those who care to sit in the special reserved section for ex-aggies to so specify when sending in orders. The Aggie section seats are $1.65.

A special train will be run from Lubbock for the game.

As Swollen Rio Grande Floods Texas Ranches

Jones: "How to you spend your income?"

Smith: "About 30 per cent for shelter, 30 per cent for clothing, 40 per cent for food and 20 per cent for amusement."

Jones: "But that adds up to 120 per cent."

Smith: "That's right."

"I wish our bank ouuld get on its feet enough to stop sending back our checks marked 'No Funds,'" said the bride to her husmand. "A bank that hasn't got enough money on hand to pay a $4.27 check ought to be merged and put on a sound basis."

A tiny sparrow was buried with full military honors with muffled drums and an escort of 6,000 soldiers. The sparrow, as typifying courage, was chosen by the Spaniards as their emblem at the beginning of the Ten Years War in Cuba, while they spoke of the Cubans as cats. One day a Spanish soldier saw a cat pounce on a sparrow. He rushed in, killed the cat, rescued the wounded bird which was given ever attention but which died. It was buried with all the pomp and ceremony of a hero of war.

TAX ON BANK CHECKS.

Few, even among those who pride themselves on their patriotism, pay taxes with satisfaction. Especially is there protest against taxation that takes unusual form. For this reason every tax that is made contingent upon business transactions proves a hindrance to trade.

Perhaps one of the most unfortunate of the provisions of the recent emergency revenue legislation is that taxing bank checks. It is unfortunate, however, less because it tends to discourage business at a time when every aid should be given to business recovery, than because it checks the development of a system which has been built up slowly and is of incalculable value to millions of people of moderate means in safeguarding their funds. Already it is apparent that the number of checks issued in small amounts decreases

From the bankers' point of view perhaps this trend may be unimportant since small accounts and small checks have been regarded as something of a nuisance. But to the cause of business as a whole and to the affairs of millions of people of limited resources abandonment of the checking system brings risk, inconvenience and real loss.

To such, it is worth while to consider that the burden of the tax is more apparent than real and the small additional cost, which probably will be but temporary, should be met in the interests of safety, and good business practice. A check a day involves a tax-cost of ut 60 cents a month. The value of a receipt in the form of a cancelled voucher might be in a single disputed claim far greater than the amount of tax on many checks.

Aviation World Turns to Stratosphere For Greater Speed by Planes

THE need of a greater speed than that now being achieved in the air, for the proper future expansion of the air transportation industry, is drawing the eyes of the aviation world upward—toward the stratosphere.

Last year Flight Lieutenant Stainforth of the British naval forces hurtled his seaplane through the air at the startling speed of 408.8 miles per hour. With land, air and water and the friction they offer being what they are, a pace of almost seven miles a minute seems a tremendous, and almost unbeatable, accomplishment. But planes that are planned to go 500 miles an hour are being built today. And a speed of 1000 miles an hour exists in the perfectly sane minds of scientists and inventors.

Such a speed would enable a plane to keep pace with the rotation of the globe and encircle the earth in 24 hours, beating the night around the world. This is expected to be accomplished in the stratosphere, the thin air six or more miles above the earth entered for the second time recently by Professor Auguste Piccard, Swiss scientist.

The atmosphere surrounding the earth is divided into two parts—the troposphere and the stratosphere. As a plane rises, there is a general decrease in temperature, until a point is reached beyond which the thermometer remains constant. This point marks the division between the troposphere, or lower region, and the stratosphere, or upper region.

The point at which the stratosphere begins differs with the latitude. In the polar regions, it begins at a height of about five miles; over the equator, at about 10 miles. Strangely enough, the temperature of the stratosphere over the poles is 60 degrees below zero, while over the tropics it is 110 degrees below zero.

In the stratosphere, the stars shine by day from a purple sky, since here there is no cloud of dust particles as in the lower air.

AN airplane flying in the stratosphere avoids the fogs, storms and wind currents encountered in the lower region. The only movement there is a slight wind from the west, caused by the earth's rotation. This breeze is not expected to hinder substantially a plane's progress.

According to Professor Piccard, a transatlantic flight through the stratosphere might be made in five hours. Other scientists believe that even greater speed may be attainable.

Before the stratosphere can be made the medium for air transportation, however, it will be necessary to build a plane with a hermetically sealed cabin, provided with oxygen producing units. The inability of motors to run on thin air then must be remedied. To this end, experiments are being conducted with superchargers. Placed several in line, each supercharger condenses its intake of air more completely to give the motor a large amount of oxygen.

Two other features of the stratosphere plane of the future, some engineers maintain, will be a variable pitch propeller and an autogyro device. The former will enable planes to climb sharply and to operate at high speeds on a level; the autogyro will increase the lift of a plane, enable it to reach the higher strata in a minimum of time, and act as a stabilizer.

In Water Four Days and Nights

An exceedingly buoyant girl is Thelma Howe, 26, who remained in the water at St. Petersburg, Fla., for 98 hours, to set a new world's record. The former women's record, held by Mrs. Myrtle Huddleston, was 87 hours and 47 seconds, and the men's indoor mark is only two hours longer than Miss Howe's time. She is shown above as she neared the end of her stay in the water.

THE TELEPHONE GIRL.

The telephone girl sits in her chair
And listens to voices from everywhere.
She hears all the gossip, she hears all the news.
She knows who is happy and who has the blues.
She knows all the sorrows, she knows all the joys
She knows every girl who is chasing the boys.
She knows all the trouble, she knows all the strife,
She knows every man who quarrels with his wife;
She knows every time one is out with boys,
She knows the excuses each fellow employs.
She knows every woman who has a dark past,
She knows every fellow who's inclined to be fast.
In fact there's a secret beneath each little curl
Of that quiet, demure looking telephone girl.
If the telephone girl told all that she knows,
She'd turn many friends into bitterest foes.
She'd sow a small wind that'd soon be a gale.
She'd engulf some in trouble and others in jail.
She'd let go a story that, gaining in force,
Would cause half the wives to sue for divorce.
She'd get all the churches mixed up in a fight,
And turn many days into sorrowing night.
In fact, she would keep the whole town in a stew
If she told but a tenth of the things that she knew.
Say, reader, doesn't it make your head whirl
When you think of what you owe to the telephone girl?—Clipped.

THE EAGLE'S TALE

VOLUME NO. 7 CANYON, TEXAS, SEPTEMBER 15, 1932. NUMBER 1

Only One Time To Be Educated

It is perhaps wise for an individual today to postpone any activity that can be put off, and by the same token it is perhaps a part of wisdom for communities to postpone for awhile all enterprises that can be left to the future. As an individual householder, I can very easily delay building an addition to my home, setting out shrubbery, or buying any new furniture; for next year the addition can be built to the same part of the house that I might have in mind now, or the shrubbery planted in the very same spot of ground that I now contemplate beautifying, or the new pieces of furniture set in the same rooms that in my opinion now need new furniture. Likewise a community can one year from today, or even ten years from today, put down a piece of pavement on identically the same ground that needs it now, or erect a building on the same site that is now in mind. But as a householder, I cannot put off feeding my children; for if I do not feed them this year, next year they will not be here to be fed. Nor can the community neglect today to educate its children; for if the present day child is not educated today while he is a child, he will have passed on from childhood into the responsibilities of mature life without adequate education.

Childhood has always been considered the time for training the young. If the child of this generation is not trained, the adult population of tomorrow is ignorant. There will be other children tomorrow, but the child of today is only a child today.

Education, therefore, is a duty which no generation can neglect. No parent can for any moment feel that he can let any one of his children grow up in ignorance, and every parent is willing to make any sacrifice whatever for the education of his child. The parental heart always prays the prayer of the Trojan Hector: "O Zeus, grant that my child may grow up to be a better man than his father."

Cities, communities, and school districts are made up of parents who love their own children. They will not knowingly permit the future of their child to be blighted with the curse of ignorance. They will not, unless blinded by carefully concealed designs, permit material interests to be placed above human rights of their own flesh and blood. Since this is the only time that their children will ever have to get an education, they will see to it that the schols are kept open and their efficiency unimpaired. They will be perfectly willing to postpone until a future date any private or public enterprise that can be left to the future, but they will not permit their children to suffer mental or spiritual starvation through the closing of schools in their communities.

1932 Enrollment Is Larger In Grade School

The enrollment of Canyon High School is not as large as it was at this time a year ago. There are 57 freshmen, 67 spohomores, 48 juniors, and 47 seniors, a total of 219 high school pupils. Last year there were 200 pupils at this time.

As a usual thing there are more girls than boys in the senior classes of the high school. This is not, however, true of the present senior class, though it is true of the entire high school. There are 98 boys and 121 girls. The boys still control two classes in elections, the freshmen and senior classes, but they are weak enough in the sophomore and junior classes to give the girls the lead. In the Freshman class there are 35 boys and 22 girls. In the sophomore class there are 23 boys and 44 girls. The 14 boys are nearly lost among the 34 girls in the junior class. The senior boys do not have a very large majority, with only 25 boys against 21 girls.

The grade school enrollment has increased. There are 57 pupils in the first grade, 58 in the second grade, 73 in the third grade, and 57 in the fourth grade, making a total of 245 children in the primary department. There are 49 in the 5th grade, 58 in the sixth grade and 69 in the the 7th grade, making a total of 417 pupils in the grade school. Last year there were 420 pupils enrollel in the grade school during the entire year and 302 in the high school.

As to the further enrollment of new students, Mr. Carruth states, "I don't believe there will be any more increase in the enrollment throughout the year than there was last year."

Pep, Pep, Pep

The Canyon High School pep squad is showing much enthusiasm this year. The girls are looking forward to getting their new suits and to the coming football games. The pep suits will arrive in time for the first game of the season. A large percentage of the girls in the high school are present every day at practice in order that they may support the Canyon High School football boys to the fullest extent in the coming football season.

Cox and Brasuel Candidates For Student President

The entire student body assembled Thursday, with Mr. Terry in charge for the purpose of dividing into two political parties to elect as student body president. Each class was divided in half to give everyone a fair chance. The Tories adjourned to the study hall, with the Whigs remaining in the auditorium. The respective campaign managers, Dan Gerald and Wesley Williams, took charge and elected Tyson Cox and Leonard Brasuel as party nominees.

The purpose of electing a student association president is to elect a leader among the students. He will automatically become president of the student council. A great interest was taken in this work from the start. From all indications the race will surely be a tight one.

Posters and signs are being displayed in the entire building in the interest of the candidates. Much enthusiasm among the students is being aroused by speeches which are being made by the publicity committee.

Principal Terry Has Begun Work With Students

A group of students were called to the home of Mr. George Terry Thursday evening for the purpose of discussing the organization of the study body.

The meeting was opened by a dinner party which was served to, host, Mr. Terry, and the guests, Margery Tankersley, Rosa Cash, Mable Schmitz, Louise Wester, George Brasuel, Frances Elliston, and Hal Gamble.

Following dinner the business meeting was held where plans were laid for the organization.

School Classes Show Interest By Organizing Early

The 1933 class of Freshmen met in Miss Foster's room, Sept. 6, Tuesday, for the first class meeting. Miss Foster talked to them on the qualities that an officer should have. She then appointed Billie Bee Flesher as chairman of a nominating committee. Billie Bee is to select two more people to aid her.

Sophomore

Tuesday evening, Sept. 6, the sophomores, with their sponsor, Mr. Fox, met for a class meeting. Mr. Carruth gave a very encouraging talk to the sophomores, telling them of the importance of cooperating. Mable Schmitz was elected president. New objectives were then then discussed.

Junior

The junior class met in room 13, Tuesday, Sept. 6. Mr. Barker gave them a few points on what would be expected of them as juniors. He appointed a committee for the purpose of introducing new ways to obtain money. Their committee consists of: Robbie Lee Foster, Owen Miller, Christine Shackelford, Ellen Hicks and Ray Miller. They then elected Frances Elliston as president for the coming year. A nominating committee of three people was appointed. Those on the committee were, Lee Christine Cousins, Lena Wade Jennings, Leigh Beason.

The seniors met in the auditorium. Mr. Terry gave them an interesting talk on their objectives. George Brasuel was elected president. A nominating committee consisting of Leonard Brasuel, Robert Black and Louise Wester was next appointed. An invitation from the faculty was then read, asking the seniors to attend a forty-two party. The meeting was then adjourned.

Girl Scouts

The Girl Scouts have been very active the past summer. Immediately following the closing of school, a five day scout camp, sponsored by the American Legion Auxiliary, was held in Ceta Canyon.

Following the return from Camp, Miss Goodrich, troop captain, went to Camp Edith Mary, in New York, the largest Girl Scout leaders camp in the United States, to enter a two weeks' training course. Following that, she went to be a counselor at Life's Girls' Camp in New York.

The troop has been meeting on Tuesday nights with Mrs. J. D. Barker, serving as troop captain. Two over-night hikes, and a number of sunrise breakfasts and picnics have served as enjoyable activities during the past three months.

A contest is being held in passing badge and tests. The reward will go to four girls in the form of a week-end camping trip.

Changes Made In The High School Elective Courses

Some changes have been made in the school curriculum for this year.

Vocational Guidance is being offered only to freshmen, while heretofore it has been open to all classes.

"There will be some students," states Mr. Carruth, "who will never finish high school, and they are the ones who most need the guidance of the vocation course.

This is the first year that mechanical drawing has been offered for girls, however, the classes are crowded and the girls seem to be interested in their work.

Physics is being given instead of chemistry, and is open only to juniors and seniors.

The ancient and modern histories have been combined into a course of World History.

Solid geometry and trigonometry are the elective math. courses.

Superintendent Urges More Home Study By Pupils

I would like to urge that the parents cooperate with the school in getting pupils to study while at home. There is a great tendency today to disregard home study altogether. With the sixty minute periods that we have in the high school a goodly amount of supervised study can be done in the classroom. It would be very desirable to have all of the child's activities carried on under the direction of the instructor. This objective cannot be attained because of lack of time.

Each assignment should be prepared before each lesson. The average program requires 4 of the 6 periods of the day of each pupil and leaves two for study and the other activities that go to make up the school day. Usually a pupil has only one period in which to study during the day besides the supervised study during each class. This time is not adequate for complete preparation of all classes. Ordinarily every pupil should prepare from one to three assignments at night.

Twenty-Three New Students Are Enrolled

Students from many different schools are now enrolled in the Canyon High School. Each class has had new members added to its list.

Those in the senior class are: Stewart Mahle from Slaton; Marvin Callihan from Conway; Jane Clark from Amarillo; Ghent Muncy from Channing; J. C. Shaw from Lockney; and Audell Kimmons, Joe Collins, Rufus Johnson, and Alfred Lewis from W. T. High.

The juniors welcome the following students: Gertrude Meador, Dallas; Bernice Moore, Happy; Hulon Powell, Ralls; and Sarah Frances Smith from Wayside.

The new sophomores are: Gebo Clark, Washburn; Dorothy Dickenson, Silverton; Mildred Heidgerken, Academy Ft. Smith, Ark.; and Florence Root and Alma Smith from W. T. High.

Although all of the freshmen are new to high school life the greater part of them have come from the Canyon Grade School and are not considered as new students. Those coming from other school systems are: Gertrude Brandt from the Wilson school; Harold Byars, Wayside; Leonard Impola, Lakeside; Gerald Noble, Lelia Lake; and Aleen Reid from El Monte, California.

The student body at large have planned to make this a very successful session, and are beginning by a hearty welcome to all new classmates.

Music and Speech Instructors Give Chapel Program

Mrs. Cleatice Crump, the head of the public speaking department, and Mrs. Lee Foster, head of the music department, assisted by Mrs. J. D. Barker, entertained the student body of C. H. S., Wednesday at Chapel. Mrs. Foster opened the program with the following numbers:

"March Hmgroise"—Kowalski.
"At Sundown"—Helen Hopekirk.

Mrs. Crump gave two humorous readings:

"Getting Ready for a Date."
"Willies First Day at School."

Mrs. Barker assisted Mrs. Foster in the presentation of:

"The Rosary"—Nevin.
"Humoreske"—Dvorak.
"The World's Waiting for the Sunrise."
"Lullaby of the Leaves."

C. H. S. Library Fines Reduced For This Term

Miss Mattie Jordan, head librarian, states that although no new books have been added to the library, approximately thirty worn ones have been rebound and returned to the shelves in a perfect condition during the summer.

The selected library assistants for this year are: Natalie Parker, Margery Tankersley, Ruby Foster, Lena Wade Jennings, Jane Clark, Trannie Mae Russell, Mary Ella Lowe, Jean Burgess, Irene Thompson, Bobbye Joe Cheyne, Winnie Dee Hicks and Mable Schmitz.

Some reduction has been made in the fines this year. Overnight books must be returned to the library by nine o'clock or they will draw a fine of five cents the day due, and two cents for each day there after until the fine is paid.

It is hoped that the effectiveness of the fines will not reduce under these rates.

Canyon Football Prospects Good, States Barksdale

Fifty-two men reported to Coaches Barksdale and Jones at the beginning of the grid training for the year on Sept. 3. Of the fifty-two, only four are letter men.

Coach Barksdale made the following statement about his 1932 football prospects: "I can say, without much hesitation, that if the boys continue with as much spirit and interest in the game, we will win some of our matches. I am sure everyone will put out as much as they can, and that's what it takes."

The letter men who are back this year are all linemen. They are Tyson Cox, Owen Miller, and Leonard and George Brasuel. The potential candidates for the backfield and end positions are fast but light and inexperienced.

The end positions are being fought for by "Scoop" Elliston, Austin Cone, and Joe Collins. Back field candidates are Ogden Stroud, Sewell Cox, F. A. Thomas, Wade Johnson, Johnny Wilson, Robert Black, and Wesley Williams. J. M. Black seems to have little opposition at center.

The schedule for this season will be against the strongest teams of the Panhandle district. The game with Borger, first set at September 30, has been shifted to October 14, the regular scheduled time for the game with Tulia. Tulia will not participate in football this year. The games with Happy and Hereford are looked forward to as the hardest conference tilts of the season.

FAST TRAVELING!

Everything is running along nicely in Canyon High. Boners have already begun to appear.

The following paragraph appeared in a sophomore English paper: "It (Treasure Island) was written by Robert Louis Stevenson, while he was traveling at the rate of one chapter a day."

MAKE THIS YEAR UNUSUAL

Unusual things are always interesting and fascinating. As I was enrolling Saturday I noticed a person who seemed particularly happy. He was smiling and speaking to his old classmates, and had a friendly word for all, both old and new students. This unusual student was careful in giving the teachers the information that they desired, and was courteous in all conversation with them.

It takes but little effort to be cheerful, courteous and friendly. These are three qualities that not only show a person's breeding, but make any association pleasant. A cheerful, courteous, and friendly person never whines, frowns, or grumbles. He is always smiling, willing to aid others, and co-operates with his instructors. One who wears a smile that won't come off is always popular among his friends and associates and is treated kindly by the outside world.

Why not study harder this year? That would be unusual; therefore fascinating and interesting. The harder we study the more respect and appreciation our teachers have for us.

To the student who wishes to make this year unusual, we give this little reminder. Friendliness, cheerfulness, and courtesy, mixed with hard study, will make this year outstanding.

Through the night comes a call for help

THE alarm bell on the switchboard at Miss Freeman's head tinkled as the hands of the clock reached 4 one morning.

"Operator? Send Dr. Palmer out right away. We live four miles west, you know."

Miss Freeman was ringing the doctor when she noticed a reflection against the sky. The doctor didn't answer. What was wrong? Was that a fire in the north of town?

She stepped to the window. That shed by the Black place was on fire. It was out by the road away from the house. It would burn before the firemen could get there.

As she tried to ring the doctor again, Miss Freeman realized that his telephone line had burned. Perhaps a life was in peril. She called a neighbor. No answer. At last a sleepy voice, two blocks down the street, said . . .

"Hullo?"

"Will you call Dr. Palmer, please. His telephone isn't working. An emergency call. The Bamberger home. Four miles west." *

Miss Freeman smiled at an item in the Hillsdale notes of the local paper the next week:

"Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Bamberger are the proud parents of a 9-pound son, born last Friday morning . . ."

The telephone is ready day or night . . . in case of fire . . . to call the doctor . . . to order a part for a machine . . . to get the price for eggs . . . to visit friends.

You can buy few things which cost so little and are worth so much.

*A true story.

Home Canning Is In Vogue In Randall Co.

Recipes Are Given For Canning Peaches And Pears

Home canning is in vogue in Randall County during these early autumn months just as garden plots were stylish earlier in the year.

Many Panhandle families will be better nourished this winter than ever before because of extensive gardens cultivated during the summer and the home canning projects that are being carried out this fall.

Those interested in providing families with food cannot think of these gardens only as summer sources of food. Some of the minerals and vitamins and calories in these foods must be stored away family's all too small income is to be faced without hardship and the familys all too small income is to be stretched to buy many necessities. Home canning preserves many of these choice garden products for winter use and adds to the pleasure and nutritional value of many meals.

Home orchards as well as the markets were filled with lovely fresh fruits all during the summer. "Eat fruits twice daily" recommends the Bureau of Home Economics at Washington. This is not such a difficult problem for some families during the summer months but in the winter they face difficulty.

If the family budget is too limited to supply one fresh fruit each day, two servings of fruit daily for each individual must come from home canned fruits. Peaches and pears are fruit favorites and should be chosen to fill a large portion of the fruit jars. A bushel of peaches will fill about 18 quart jars. A bushel of pears will fill at least 30 quart jars. The canning of peaches and pears is a simple matter. Pour boiling water over peaches leaving it long enough to loosen the skins. Plunge peaches at once into cold water. Then remove skin and let stand in cold water to keep from discoloration until ready for cooking. Peaches may be jar cooked or they may be cooked in the open kettle. A syrup of 3 cups of sugar to 1 cup of water is used. To improve flavor add one peach pit to each jar of fruit.

Pears are usually canned when slightly underripe. They are pared and cored and then dropped at once into a cold salt water bath made in the proportion of one tablespoon of salt to one quart of water. This is to keep them from discoloring. Boil the pears gently in a syrup made with 2 cups of sugar to one cup of water, then pack into hot jars and seal. If the housewife prefers, pears may be packed into jars, covered with syrup made of 3 cups of sugar to 2 cups of water, partly sealed and processed for 20 minutes. Then remove from canner and seal immediately. A few jars of many kinds fo fruit will provide a great variety when winter comes.

The frugal housewife will watch the daily market to take advantage of the best prices for good sound fruit. Home canning has returned in full force to most American homes.

group for the occasion.

Invite County Schools

An invitation to all the schools of the county to join in making the Canyon-Randall county day the outstanding day of this year's fair was sent out by Fred Wortham, Chamber of Commerce secretary, early this week. The schools were urged to dismiss and attend the fair.

Several special radio programs will be broadcast over Amarillo Radio Stations direct from studios on the fair grounds. Special arrangements have been completed for a Randall County program from 3:00 to 3:30 in the afternoon over KGRS and the regular Tuesday night Chamber of Commerce program over WDAG from 8:30 to 9:00 o'clock. Plans are being made for another special broadcast on a late night program either for Tuesday night or later in the week.

"Indications are that this will be the biggest fair ever held in the Panhandle," was the statement of Mason King, Trade Extension Manager of the Amarillo Chamber of Commerce and acting "Ballyhoo" man for the fair association, on a brief visit in Canyon Wednesday afternoon. Mr. King with others were just completing their last good-will trip in the interest of the fair, having covered the entire south plains area. The fair boosters declared that they had been received with more real enthusiasm than in recent years. The applications for exhibit space of farm products are far in excess of those during recent years, indicating a record number of exhibitors.

"We are showing the best we have in Randall County this year in the best manner that we know how," was the assertion of County Agent W. H. Upchurch, as he prepared to pack the Randall County Exhibit and move it to the fair.

"Of course under present conditions it is almost too much to expect that the feat of four consecutive first places for Randall county as won by Mr. Upchurch, shall be repeated this year," said Chamber of Commerce secretary, Fred Wortham. "Nevertheless, despite the handicaps under which our county agent has worked this year, and the short crops made so by the drouth, we do not expect to see Randall County up in the running for leading honors of the Agricultural division."

grade. The most advanced pupils were Douglas Hammond and Abbie Thompson. They were in about the sixth grade. The younger children of this school all thought that these two boys, Douglas and Abbie (better known as Doug and Abb) were very wonderful students. We thought it a wonderful thing that these two boys were able to diagram, analize and parse sentences, read from the history, study the "big" geography, solve problems in fractions, percentage, interest, square root, and cube root. In fact we would often spend time listening to them recite when we should have been preparing our own lessons. These two boys were always kind and considerate toward the younger children of this school. They would often spend their time at recess helping and showing us the way to solve our small problems in arithmetic and in giving out our spelling words and "hearing" us spell. The advice which they gave us was to study hard and when we grew up to be "big," we would know lots and be "smart" like they were. Of course this was nothing but childish egotism on their part, but at the same time it had a good effect and helped to "spur" us on to do our best.

The most formidable thing about this school was a small braided quirt made of colored horse hair which Miss Emma kept in a drawer of her desk in a very convenient place. This quirt she sometimes, but not often, used on the unruly students.

IN THE WORLD OF SPORTS

Departure of McGraw and Hornsby, Foxx's Home Runs, Sterling Work of Warneke and Ferrell, Were Some of the Highlights of the 1932 Season

BY PHILIP MARTIN

THE Chicago Cubs are back, and so are the New York Yankees, to bring together teams representing the two greatest cities of the country in the annual fall spectacle, the world series.

There was never any doubt about the Yanks after the Fourth of July. They started early to make a parade of the American League race. But the Cubs were beset with difficulties.

All in all, the 1932 major league season has been one of momentous events. May I recall some of them?

There was the retirement of John McGraw, after something like 30 years at the helm of the New York Giants. McGraw stepped down while the Giants were resting in eighth place in the National League, a spot with which he was unfamiliar. Bill Terry, star first baseman, ascended to the throne and apparently will be the manager again next season.

Almost equal to McGraw's retirement was the banishment of Rogers Hornsby, who left the National League for the first time in 17 years. Charley Grimm, another star first baseman, was appointed to Hornsby's post as manager of the Cubs. With Grimm at the helm, the Cubs took renewed spirit and spurted into the lead. They might have done the same had Hornsby stayed, but this is considered improbable by baseball critics.

The Cubs and the Yankees have won pennants before, but never in the same year. Both are far and away the most colorful teams in their respective leagues. Even with a depression on hand, they are likely to create new world series attendance records.

Joe McCarthy, Yankee manager, becomes the first manager to win a pennant in each major league. He piloted the Cubs to the National League championship in 1929. Many managers have won two or more pennants, but always in the same major league.

Two remarkable pitching performances were spoiled by one hit in each. Tommy Bridges of Detroit pitched a perfect game against Washington for eight and two-thirds innings. One puny single with two out in the ninth by Pinch-hitter Dave Harris ruined Bridges' entrance to the Hall of Fame. And another single, by lead-off batter Dick Porter of the Indians, the first man to face big Fred Marberry of Washington, robbed "Firpo" of a no-hit game. He blanked the Indians without a hit thereafter.

Without one of his famous last-minute spurts, Babe Ruth cannot sit on the American League home run throne this season. Jimmy Foxx is the occupant. Since Ruth began the practice of hitting home runs, he has occupied the champion's seat in all but one year, when Ken Williams beat him to it.

The arrival of young Lon Warneke, Cub pitcher, was sensational. He becomes the first National League pitcher to win 20 games since Pat Malone accomplished it in 1930.

The fall of Pittsburgh was disappointing and a sad affair, but thrilling, nevertheless. The other clubs did nothing but feed the Pirates left-handed pitching and it gave the Pittsburghers indigestion, insomnia, dizzy spells and fits.

Lou Gehrig equaled an ancient world record, that of hitting four home runs in one game. He is the first of the modern players to perform the feat. Yet Buzz Arlett, an ex-major leaguer playing at Baltimore in the International League, hit five home runs in one game and on another occasion hit five in a double-header.

Wes Ferrell proved his right to a high pedestal by winning 20 games for his fourth straight year, his first four, too. No other pitcher ever proved as good in the corresponding period of his career.

In some of the sport news sensations of the 1932 baseball season, John McGraw, left, above, announced his retirement as manager of the Giants; Charley Grimm, star Chicago Cub first baseman, succeeded Hornsby as manager of the Cubs, and Joe McCarthy, New York Yankee manager, becomes the first to win a pennant in each major league. Wes Ferrell, right, Cleveland pitcher, has won 20 games for his fourth straight year.
